Abstract

The invention relates to a method and to apparatus for testing a substrate, in which a particle beam is directed onto the substrate and emitted secondary particles are detected with a detector and then evaluated. According to the invention the location of the secondary particles emitted on the substrate relative to the position of the detector is taken into consideration during testing.

09977549 - 101501